

The CPA guarantor governments have a duty to their promises and the people of Sudan. As the voice of the large majority of Southern Sudanese people on the ground, the Church proclaims "Let my people choose", and stands by the rights of all Sudanese people to their fundamental human rights and their right under the internationally-guaranteed CPA to determine their own future.

The Church is working for the unity and peace of the people as well as the education of those who are to vote in the next two years. We welcome support for this work from any and all governmental, non-governmental and international institutions and pledge to work with efficiency and integrity for the Sudanese people.

We, the undersigned Church leaders, therefore urge the Government of National Unity (GoNU), the Government of Southern Sudan (GoSS) and the international guarantors of the CPA to uphold their promises of equality and freedom to the people of Sudan.
